DAY 1

Landing at Keflavík’s small but perfectly formed international airport, you could be forgiven for thinking that you were landing in a children’s playground. Colourful Lego-like structures dot the landscape, resplendent in primary colours like giant building blocks; but this is merely where your journey begins. A member of the A&K team will meet you and transfer you to your hotel, the Hotel Borg. This Art Deco landmark hotel commands a central position, perfect for exploring Iceland’s small capital. En-route to your hotel, there may be the chance to stop at the bubbling thermal baths of the Blue Lagoon, located a short drive from Reykjavík. Make sure you pack your swimsuit - the air outside may be freezing but a dip in the lagoon is akin to a warm bath, and you can draw out the toxins by smothering yourself in natural clay, said to have restorative properties.

DAY 2

This morning you’ll become acquainted with your Land Rover, before driving in convoy along Iceland’s famous Route 1 towards your first destination. Circling around the island’s coastline for 830 miles, Route 1 celebrates its fourth decade of service, and is a national emblem as well as a marvel of engineering. At its northern edge it skims the Arctic Circle, but you’ll be driving along its southern route, traversing plunging gorges, remote plains, lava beds and mountain passes. The terrain continues to change, and next it’s time to test your Land Rover on the black sands that border the fishing villages of Thorlakshofn, Eyrarbakki and Stokkseyri. This is a more challenging feat than it might seem, as the constantly changing ground requires you to adapt your skills, but your expert Land Rover instructors will always be on hand for guidance. Your route will then turn inland at the town of Þorlákshöfn, and follow the Sog River. You’ll skirt Iceland’s largest lake, Þingvallavatn, before reaching Thorgeir’s Law in the beautiful town of Þingvellir (a UNESCO-listed World Heritage Site). Here you’ll experience Iceland’s trio of natural attractions, in the form of the Golden Circle. A central part of Iceland’s history since 930AD, Iceland’s first parliament was formed here, marking the start of the Icelandic Commonwealth and the oldest extant parliamentary constitution in the world. Your first stop will take you into the rift valley, where the North American and Eurasian tectonic plates are gradually – and visibly – moving away from each other, creating a deep fissure that creates beautifully clear driving conditions. The rest of the day will be spent honing your driving abilities in your Land Rover Discovery as you follow in the path of modified Defender vehicles across the rugged Iceland terrain, driving in convoy in their tracks, as you conquer the icy roads. Your hotel – Hotel Ion – is set against a backdrop of majestic mountainous lava, and is in the perfect location for exploring the Golden Circle.

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 3

After a quick de-brief with your Land Rover instructors, it’s time to put yesterday’s learnings to the test as you drive towards the southern shores of Iceland. The views are sensational.

DAY 4
Driving through the snow and icy tracks from Thingvellir National Park to Reykjavik, you’ll feel confident and at home behind the wheel of your Land Rover Discovery. Geysir is a must see and is home to a number of hot geysers, giving you a chance to put your newly acquired driving skills into practice. You’ll visit the remarkable Skógafoss waterfall, positioned on the cliffs of what used to be the coastline, before it receded seaward some three miles away. One of the largest waterfalls in the country, it produces a vast amount of spray resulting in a constant rainbow, or sometimes even two! (we would recommend packing an extra raincoat!). This alone is worth the trip. Meals: B L D
DRIVING TIME: APPROX 4 HOURS

DAY 5
After breakfast at Hotel Borg, you’ll have a final chance to explore downtown Reykjavik – the cathedral, restaurants, shops and harbour are all within close walking distance. You’ll then be driven from your hotel back to Keflavík airport for your return flight home. You may also choose to visit the Blue Lagoon before you'll spend the afternoon snowmobiling. Meals: B
DRIVING TIME: APPROX 4 HOURS

*Driving times and itinerary subject to change based on local weather conditions.
BLUE LAGOON

Iceland’s lure is in its topography: a wild, unrelenting celebration of Mother Nature and all her incredible possibilities, and the Blue Lagoon is one of the country’s most iconic natural wonders. If your flight departs later in the day, and you didn’t have time on day 1, we can arrange a chauffeured visit to the bubbling thermal baths, located a short drive from Reykjavík. Make sure you pack your swimsuit – the air outside may be freezing but a dip in the lagoon is akin to a warm bath, and you can draw out the toxins of the night before by smothering yourself in natural clay.

REYKJAVÍK CITY BREAK

Taking inspiration from New York, London and Scandinavia, Iceland’s capital is cool in both design and temperature. Icelanders work hard but play hard too, and Reykjavík has a vibrant cultural buzz of impressive shopping, lively bars and a music scene that includes the internationally renowned festival, Airwaves. Downtown Reykjavik is small: the Borg is in the district with the best nightlife, while the old town has a Lego-like charm and the freshest air in the world. Extend your four-night trip with a few nights to fully explore this quirky and historic city and its many fabulous restaurants and shops.

DAY 1

On arrival at Marrakech Menara Airport, you’ll be fast-tracked through customs and chauffeured into the city to your luxury hotel, the magnificent Tamazight Suites & Pavilions. Your fellow guests will join you for a welcome dinner before your driving adventure begins in the morning. Meals: D

DAY 2

After a brief familiarisation with your vehicle, you’re off – zipping through the narrow, switchback streets of Marrakech’s captivating medina, bursting through the city limits into the alluring suburbs and out into the barren flats outside the city. Today you’ll be getting to know your Land Rover Discovery and its seemingly never ending limits, crossing the desert landscape between Marrakech and the coastal town of Essaouria, passing through villages and navigating rocky tracks. Your route will be watched over by the arresting north face of the Atlas Mountains, and you’ll be driving in its looming shadow for most of the way.

As you edge closer to the Atlantic the landscape dramatically as the rocky desert gives way to beach and your first challenge awaits, testing your newfound driving skills that you have been honing on this morning’s drive. This challenge is crossing the Oued Ksob River in order to reach the coastal town of Essaouira, passing through villages and navigating rocky tracks. Your route will be watched over by the arresting north face of the Atlas Mountains, and you’ll be driving in its looming shadow for most of the way.

Today you’ll be taking on three different terrains: beach, sand dunes and rock, challenging yourself as well as the capabilities of your Discovery. You’ll first make your way, in convoy, out of Essaouria and hopefully across the soft and humid sandy beaches, tide depending. The tide changes rapidly so you and your instructor will have to choose the best route south.

If the tide is right, you’ll be taking your Discovery on to the beach, but either way you’ll enjoy a challenging sand drive up in the dunes. At times you’ll find yourself balancing on two wheels as you surf along them kicking up the sand in your wake. The Race 2 Recovery teams train in these very dunes in preparation for the Dakar Rally, and successfully conquering this terrain is key to how well they’ll do in the big race. You’ll all then cruise along the Atlantic coast before turning inland. As you leave the blue and white hued coastal villages behind, you’ll pass through the semi-desert Souss Valley. Thickly carpeted in thousands upon thousands of argan trees, the forest is designated as a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve, inhabited by hundreds of goats who feast on the nuts and climb high into the trees.

You’ll then contour along the foothills of the north face of the Atlas Mountains to discover a very different landscape, which mainly consists of large boulders and rocks which will require the best use of your new skills. You’ll pass through traditional Berber villages from a bygone era and experience a mix of on-road and off-road terrain with awe-inspiring views of Mount Toubkal, the highest peak in Morocco at 4,167 metres. Finish this epic day with perhaps your toughest challenge yet – driving through a narrow rocky canyon in order to reach your luxury tented camp. This requires technical driving and you’ll need to engage your Discovery in rock crawl in order to traverse it, again often balancing on two wheels. The difficulty of this pass means it can take a couple of hours to tackle, but you’ll be in the capable hands of Land Rover instructors for its freshly-caught grilled fish, sea urchin and oysters.

Essaouira is steeped in history and later this afternoon we’ve arranged for a private A&K guide to accompany you on a walking tour of this charming and historic Portuguese city. Its islands were inhabited as early as the 7th century BC and pottery found here proves the presence of both Carthaginians and Phoenicians. Your hotel for the night is the Sofitel Essaouira Mogador Golf and Spa resort, which is perfectly placed for soaking up the scenery with its ocean views. Meals: B L D

Leaving the desert landscape behind, your route brings you on a short drive back to Marrakech along compacted dirt terrain and gravel tracks via the Plateau de Kik, an area of awe-inspiring natural beauty where you can pause for lunch in a Berber village, trying traditional tagine-cooked dishes. The plateau has often been featured in the Paris to Dakar Rally and is the final stage of the Morocco Rally.

Next: Marrakech. A frantic circle of activity in the desert, prepare to lose your inhibitions and sense of direction and embrace the loud, colourful city and its hurried population. Try your hand in the bazaar, become a snake charmer as you watch the music and sense of direction and embrace the loud, as the snake charmers make way for steaming street food outlets.

We’ll take you to the best bazaars, introduce you where to sit for the best view of Djemaa el-Fnaa, the city and all its splendours. Ma’assalama, we would recommend extending your stay in Marrakech for a few days to fully appreciate the city and all its splendours. Melissa Salama, Adventure Travel by Abercrombie & Kent.

DAY 2
Following an initial briefing with your Land Rover instructors, it’s time for the adventure to begin. Winding through the scenic passes of the Montserrat Mountains and down towards the Bages Plains, you’ll stay on the road for the time being in order to get acclimatized to both your car and the winding roads, breathing in the stunning scenery as you go. You’ll soon be ready however to up the ante, and after filling up on a hearty lunch put both your Land Rover and your newfound driving skills to the test and go off-road.

Located in the shadows of Montserrat, Les Comes estate is home to over 60km of challenging off-road tracks and a variety of terrains with breathtaking scenery, making it an off-road driver’s paradise and the obvious choice for a Land Rover Experience Centre. Prepare for some thrilling off-road driving. Setting off in convoy, teamwork is required here as co-drivers and drivers work together to navigate some of Les Comes most challenging terrains, one being Les Fontetes gully. This one kilometre stretch has previously been used in the qualifying stages for the Camel Trophy and G4 Challenge. A low gear rock crawl is the only way down and can take even the most experienced drivers up to an hour to navigate! Next you’ll tackle the slab rock climb, by which time you’ll be fully at home in your Land Rover.

Tonight you will travel back in time and stay at Parador de Cardona, a renovated medieval castle steeped in history. Built high atop a salt mine, the hotel occupies a commanding position with spectacular views over the charming town of Cardona.

BARCELONA

Extend your stay in Barcelona, this vibrant city combines everything you could want on a Mediterranean break: lots of sights, a curving sweep of glamorous sandy beach and an array of chic restaurants and stylish bars that stay open until the small hours. We like the gritty cobbled streets of El Born, with its little tapas joints and cocktail bars which shake a mean caipirinha. In direct contrast is Eixample, a large district in the centre of the city with beautiful architecture, including imposing Plaça Catalunya and the Passeig de Gràcia with its unusual boutiques and designer shops. Gaudi influences from all corners, with spooky Casa Battló peering over the city centre to quirky, colourful Parc Güell, with its curving rainbow of mosaic tiles.

You'll spend time with qualified Land Rover Experience instructors, safely developing and honing your skills on specially designed courses used to prepare explorers for major expeditions, before visiting the production line where the vehicles are made.

Visit magnificent stately homes and palaces

Enjoy the camaraderie as you build your off-road driving skills together

Unique behind the scenes access at Land Rover's state of the art manufacturing facilities

Private tour of the Royal Shakespeare Company theatre in Stratford-upon-Avon

DAY 1

Your first day is spent in London where you’re chauffeured to your central hotel, The Milestone. You couldn’t find a more quintessentially British residence. In the heart of the Royal Borough, just a stone’s throw from Kensington Palace and Hyde Park, exploring the capital couldn’t be easier. Perhaps soar in the London Eye or stroll around the Tate Modern, before dinner among the rich mahogany panelling and Victorian leaded windows of the Milestone’s acclaimed restaurant. Meals: B L D

DAY 2

Day two and you’ll be transferred beyond the bustling city limits to make your acquaintance with your Land Rover. Soon you’ll be ready to get behind the wheel to begin your journey northwest. Your first stop is a real architectural showstopper: Blenheim Palace. In Oxfordshire, Blenheim Palace is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and the birthplace of Winston Churchill. Its 2,000 acre sprawling estate is one stunning masterpiece after another, from the Formal Gardens to the Lancelot ‘Capability’ Brown landscaped parkland. Soak up the fascinating history and architecture on a private guided tour followed by a quintessentially British afternoon tea. You’ll then travel west to discover the beating heart of England, the Cotswolds, boasting some of the most classically beautiful English countryside in which to experience the Land Rover’s smooth handling and power. Finish the day at Eastnor Castle, your home for the next two nights. The hugely impressive Baromial gem with a lush 5,000-acre estate rezoned by the Malvern Hills has long been the spectacular stage for the development and testing of Land Rover vehicles. Meals: B L D

DRIVING TIME: APPROX. 6 HOURS

DAY 3

Today, get set for one of the most memorable experiences you can have behind the wheel. This is a full day driving off-road on the Eastnor Castle Estate, driving through some of the toughest off-road routes that are normally reserved for secretive product testing. Accompanied by expert Land Rover Experience instructors, you’ll learn new skills in a location that is steeped in Land Rover’s history, tackling deep mud, steep hills, ravines, slick pits and thick forest, along with specially designed obstacles (our favourites are Gearbox Hill and SAS Quarry). We call it off the brochure, a true ‘wow’ experience that the qualified instructors ensure is also perfectly safe. You’ll have a picnic lunch on the estate, before retiring to the castle’s stately dining room for supper. Meals: B L D

DRIVING TIME: APPROX. 5 HOURS

DAY 4

Leaving Eastnor Castle you’ll drive through the scenic countryside – perhaps stopping for coffee in the picturesque town of Broadway – towards a true British classic: Stratford-upon-Avon, home of William Shakespeare. Your private tour of the recently redeveloped Royal Shakespeare Company theatre is followed by dinner and, of course, the best seats in the ➔

DAY 5
Leaving the stage behind, you’ll drive to Solihull, close to Britain’s car city of Birmingham. It’s no ordinary visit, and we’ve arranged for an ‘access all areas’ private viewing of the production line. It’s a reminder of how special your vehicle is. The millionth Discovery rolled off the line a couple of years ago and promptly drove 11,000 miles to Beijing to celebrate. This is no ordinary vehicle. A highlight of the day has to be the famous Jungle Track in the heart of the facility. The tough course is no mean feat and will push your newfound knowledge and skills to the limit as you traverse muddy rutted tracks and deep water, navigating along the jungle tracks and challenging obstacles as you go. The course has been in action since 1948, and to many Land Rover enthusiasts, completing it is seen as a rite of passage.

You’ll then make your way back to the outskirts of London, where it’s time to bid farewell to your Land Rover. The course has been in action since 1948, and to many Land Rover enthusiasts, completing it is seen as a rite of passage.
